DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 23-24 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The claims are directed to functional descriptive material or "data structures" not claimed as embodied in computer-readable media and are, therefore, not statutory because they are not capable of causing functional change in the computer.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 2-6, 8-21, 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Strubbe (US 6,473,114).

Strubbe discloses a method of controlling display of video associated with a conference, comprising:

displaying a plurality of video images (see Figure 6, images A, B, C, D), each of said plurality of images representing one of said multiple conference participants, each of said multiple conference participants currently active in said conference (images A, B, C, D represent active speakers; col. 4, lines 7-18);

continuing to display all of said plurality of video images, while adjusting an appearance of a video image representing one of said conference participants (candidate speaker D1), in dependence on a level of activity associated with said one of said conference participants, so that as said one of said conference participants becomes more active in said conference, said video image becomes more prominent amongst said plurality of video images (if candidate speaker D1 continues speaking beyond a predefined interval, the candidate speaker image D1 grows in size amongst the other speakers A, B, and C; col. 4, lines 12-16), and as said one of said conference participants becomes less active in said conference, said video image becomes less prominent (if the candidate speaker D1 stops speaking, his/her image shrinks and disappears; col. 4, lines 11-12).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed August 10, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Strubbe does not “disclose or suggest emphasizing activity of an already active participant in a conference, as claimed.” However, candidate speaker D1 is already active in frame 141 of Figure 6, the smaller image of D1 in this frame emphasizes the momentary speaking activity. As speaker D1 continues to speak, the growing images of D1 in frames 142-146 emphasize his/her continued speaking activity.
